

The impact of a man

WAGS Blog is back up and running and while we are re-populating the blog with previous articles, we are also looking for new material.

Bloss the blogger has come to the party with a challenge for all of us (read the article here). Bloss outlines the impact that one man had in telling the history of Western Australian in particular - his advice to all was ...

first of all, recall and record your own history'

. What's your story?

Vale Professor Geoffrey Bolton A.O.

So, whether personal stories, opinions, narratives and mysteries, bibs and bobs or bits and bytes, if it is of interest to the family history or genealogy community in which we live, send it along.

Contact Us details are on the blog under the About menu.