

Access to property titles at SAILIS are open again to guest searching of property titles. To search go to the link:

<https://www.sailis.sa.gov.au/home/public>

STOP PRESS : As of 8 October 2018 SA State Records are changing their services. For the changes go to:

<https://www.archives.sa.gov.au/content/service-changes>

SA State Records and National Archives in SA

The above organisations have changed operating hours and locations. If you are going to Adelaide check with both organisations for location and opening hours. Find the organisations at:

National Archives at naa.gov.au

SA State Records at www.archives.sa.gov.au

Birth-death-marriage databases online

Ancestry.com.au, FindMyPast and GenealogySA (SAGHS) have the South Australian BDM databases online. Ancestry have included the events in their Australian BDM databases but have omitted some information that is in the indexes. GenealogySA Members Only Area and FindMyPast have the full databases online but searching is not as versatile as the Digger database versions which can be searched through EDR2 on computers in WAGS' Research Centre.

Both the WAGS Library and State Library of WA hold all available birth (1842 to 1927), death (1942 to 1972) and marriage (1842 to 1937) indexes on fiche and digital format. State Library also have indexes in book format.

The Adelaide Cemeteries Authority has changed the search interface on its burial index database on the Internet, as a result an extra step is needed to find all buried in the same grave. You can search the database by going to: <http://www.aca.gov.sa.au/>

The cemeteries covered, with their commencement date, are

- Enfield Memorial Park 1947+
- Cheltenham Cemetery 1876+
- Smithfield Memorial Park 1986+
- West Terrace Cemetery 1837+