

There are many Local Studies Centres in the Perth Metropolitan area where you can go to research specific information about a people, places, buildings or newspapers for a particular suburb or location.

These centres have a wide variety of data available covering many topics, and can be very detailed. They are well worth a visit.