

Holdings

The National Archives Collection in Perth is rich and diverse. It documents a variety of Commonwealth government activities in the Western Australia mostly dating from Federation.

It includes migration, customs, postal and telegraph services, meteorology, veterans' affairs, and Aboriginal affairs. The collection also encompasses scientific research, civil aviation, and the administration of Christmas and Cocos (Keeling) Islands.

The collection includes some nineteenth century records inherited from the Western Australian colonial government when functions such as customs and postal services passed to the Commonwealth.

ADDRESS: Ground Floor, William Square, 45 Francis Street, Northbridge WA 6003
POSTAL: PO Box 239, Northbridge WA 6865
Telephone: (08) 9470 7500

New Office and changed access arrangements

The new Western Australia Office in Northbridge incorporates a research centre, seminar facilities, an exhibition space and administration offices for Perth staff. It is a convenient one-stop shop for all your National Archives needs, from viewing records to taking in the latest display of collection material.

For full details and holdings visit the NAA website